

OU Stings Hornets; To Share CIC Title

The Indians clinched their first championship Tuesday by defeating Emporia 82-74 on the host's court.

The Indians are CIC co-champions with Washburn. Both clubs having identical 6-2 conference records.

Both OU and Washburn were fighting to keep out of the cellar. Ironically, Pittsburg was predicted to win the conference, but they brought up the rear by notching only two victories in the CIC.

At Emporia the Indians had their most productive point total of the season. The score could have been even higher had the marksmanship from the charity line been better.

The Indians dropped only one more field goal than the host club. The game was decided from the free-throw line. The Indians dropped 18 of 32 while Emporia hit on 12 of 18 attempts.

Dennis Browne led all scorers by tallying 21 points. Of Borshheim's six scorers, five were in double figures.

In fact, three OU cager's had higher point totals than the top Emporia scorer.

The rebound battle was the closest of the year for the Indians. Usually able to out-retrieve opponents by a considerable margin, the Indians edged Emporia 49-48.

From the field the Indians hit at a 43.8 per cent clip while the Hornet crew had trouble finding the range against the pesky OU defense. The Kansans finished with 37.8 per cent from the floor.

As The Gateway went to press, the results of last night's game with Doane were not available.

If OU was victorious, the team will meet a tough crew of cagers from Chadron State in the NAIA District 11 playoffs.

The OU-Doane winner will travel to Chadron tomorrow night for the first game of the best-of-three series.

The reason for the play-off with Doane is a controversial question. Although the Indians play a stronger schedule, Doane defeated OU early in the season.

The second and third game, if necessary, will be held on the home court of Chadron's opponent next Monday and Tuesday.

Should the Indians be the host club for the second game of the series, there will be a charge for all fans, including OU students.

Students will be admitted for $1, adults $1.50.

A quick rundown of Chadron is impressive. They duplicated last year's 19-5 record. They won the NCC title with a perfect 8-0 record while runner-up Hastings had a 5-00 season at 4-4.

Chadron's record at home for the last two years is 20-0. They boast the nation's 38th top scorer in Jim Rhoades. Rhoades has been ripping the nets at a 23-points-per-game clip.

OU's 'Leadership Retreat' Gets Off To Slow Start

"Only 16 applications have been received so far," said Doug Slaughter in reference to next weekend's Leadership Retreat.

Slaughter, steering committee chairman, went on to say "we are still awaiting several late applications." Sixty students had been anticipated to participate.

The purpose of the retreat, as stated by Slaughter, is to "constructively look at problems the University faces." A report of the proceedings will be sent to various faculty and student committees for further study and action after the retreat.

The retreat, beginning at 9 p.m. Saturday, March 11, will include, in addition to student leaders, approximately 30 faculty members. Dr. Kirk Naylor is scheduled to participate in a Saturday afternoon session.

Other discussion sessions will deal with the role of the Student Council, student counseling, the proposed merger and student voice in policy making.

Cost for the two-day retreat at Camp Esther Newman, near Louisville, is $2 with participants providing their own bedroll. The retreat ends at 4 p.m. Sunday, March 12.

Prom Queen, Student Council Election Slated

Petitions for the Mar. 15 student elections are now available in the Student Center and must be returned Wednesday.

Two women from the sophomore class and one man from the freshmen class will be elected for the Student Council vacancies.

Only full-time students in good standing may check out petitions for the vacancies. Candidates who checked out petitions previous to the election postponement need not check out petitions again.

The Junior Prom Queen will also be elected Mar. 15. Petitions for this election must also be returned Wednesday.

The election will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Ben Gallagher Card Room in the Student Center. All students carrying over six hours can vote for Junior Prom Queen.

Only full-time members of the freshmen and sophomore classes can vote for their respective Council candidates.

Students Invited To Lincoln Hearing

The OU-NU merger bill (LB736) comes before the Legislature's education committee for its first public hearing Monday.

Dr. Kirk Naylor, acting OU president, has offered an open invitation to anyone interested in OU's future to attend the 2 p.m. hearing in the state capitol building.

Dean Donald Pflasterer stated that classes will not be dismissed, but he hoped that students who were free and had an interest in OU would attend.

Dean Pflasterer said that he will ask the Student Council and other campus organizations to consider sending campus representatives.

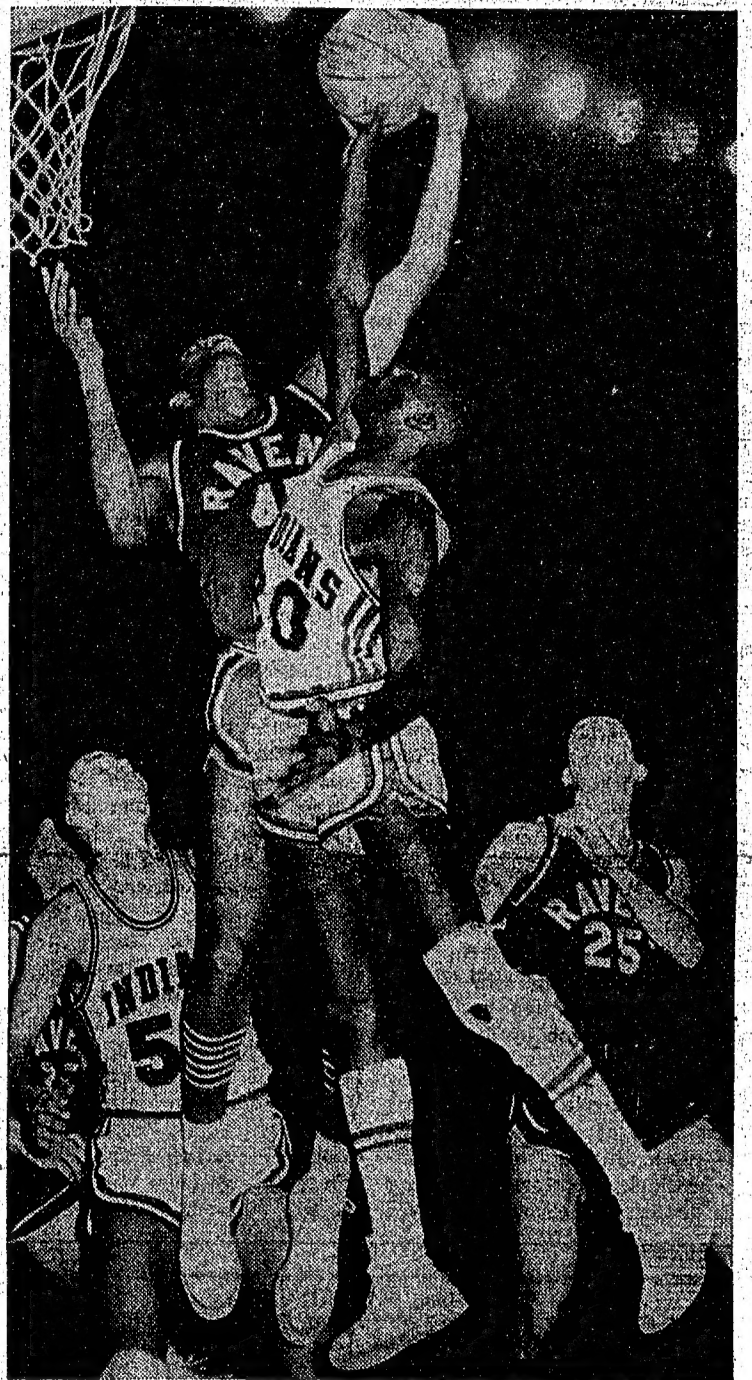

Dr. Naylor stated that although he and Regents President Robert Spire were the only witnesses who will testify, he would appreciate having "members of the OU family present to add support."

Coed of the Week

A Rose By Any Name

Cheryl Eby is the best dressed coed on campus. She earned that honor last week in the annual contest sponsored by the Home Economics Club. The 18-year-old freshman is a journalism major. Currently she is a Alpha Xi pledge and belongs to WRA.

Over 3,800 fans crowded into the Fieldhouse last Saturday to watch OU tangle with NAIA third-rated St. Benedict's. Unfortunately the Indians lost the game, but some of the fans were winners. Dr. Kirk Naylor drew Bill Gass's and Jim Paladino's names for clock radios. O Club walked away with a $25 gift certificate for the largest OU group attending. Chi Omegas were awarded a $15 certificate. Student Council sponsored the contest as well as a sock hop following the game.

Dr. Naylor Answers OU Student Queries

"I've got enough questions for a week," stated Dr. Kirk Naylor, Acting-President of OU, when he was deluged with student questions at a student convocation, Febr. 15.

The questions were submitted on cards distributed to the students.

Because he was unable to answer all the questions, The Gateway will publish the questions and Dr. Naylor's answers.

Why of the three possibilities—junior college (aid), independent state university, merger with the University of Nebraska—was the merger chosen without exploring the possibility of independence first?

All possibilities for the establishment of the fiscal stability for the University of Omaha were explored.

We spent many hours thinking about, analyzing, comparing and considering the various routes we could take. We adopted principles such as all publicly-supported education in Nebraska should be co-operative and co-ordinated and no institution should plan its future in isolation.

As a result, we chose the merger as being the plan which was the most defensible, educationally speaking, and also the most

An ArduOUS JOUrnay

The OU-NU merger bill continues its arduous journey through the maze of legislative checks and balances Monday.

The measure was introduced by Terry Carpenter on Jan. 30. The bill—LB 736—was booked for a late spring hearing.

Carpenter decided the Education Committee should begin public hearings on the proposal Monday. Acting President Naylor and Regents President Spire will testify at 2 p.m.

Dean Pflasterer has invited OU students to head west—to Lincoln for the hearing. However, classes will not be dismissed.

Also students will not be permitted to testify either for or against the measure. This shouldn't dissuade OU students from going to the State capitol.

Actions can speak louder than words.

Carpenter decided the time has arrived for LB 736 to be heard in committee. The time has arrived for Omaha University students to voice their views, whether for or against the merger.

Mr. Zero Is Replaced By 'Adding Machine'

Man versus automation is the theme of "The Adding Machine," which will be presented March 10, 11, and 12 by the University of Omaha Theater.

The internationally famous play by Elmer Rice foresees the growing dehumanization of the machine age. Most of the characters are given numbers instead of names.

The main character, Mr. Zero, played by Allan Parham, is symbolic as a cog in the machinery of modern business. The action begins when he is replaced in his job by an adding machine.

"This play is one of the best examples of American expressionistic theater," said Dr. Edwin Clarie, director. Everything is distorted as through the eyes of a person going through a nightmare.

Unusual effects are achieved by projecting scenery on a blank wall.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. in the University Auditorium. Admission is free with activity cards and $1 for non-students. Tickets go on sale March 6, from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., at the University Box office.

Others in the cast are: Isabel Anderson, Nina Bieda, John Boron, John Clark, Steve Eskew, Kent Hanon, William Harlan, Sheryl Harris, Phil Holcomb, Judy Kirkpatrick, and Don Noel; completing the list are Rita Owens, Joe Panebianco, Sandy Parsons, Tom Rouse, Helen Schell, Virginia Thomas, Valerie Vandrey, Michele Vaughn and Jerry Watson.

LOcUs Loren Drum Wonders: Where's '66's Class Gift

What has happened to the plans for a campus "Rendezvous?"

Loren Drum, president of the Class of 1966, who visited the campus recently, stated that the Rendezvous was intended to be a meeting place for OU students, something to remember about their school days instead of four walls and the drive home.

The Class of 1966 raised the money for the "Rendezvous," and it was to be their class gift.

Gateway Answers:

Don't panic, Loren Drum, there will be an OU Rendezvous.

"We just don't want to put it where it will have to be moved," said George Rachford, vice-president.

OU has the money for the monument, but the placement of the proposed new building is yet undecided.

"To move this gift would cost money and there would be a lot of emotion involved," stated Rachford.

According to Harold Keefover, controller, the money is in a restricted fund and is being invested by the Omaha Building and Loan.

OUampi Movies, Crowds

Why aren't movies shown somewhere else on campus, instead of the OUampi Room?

Movie-viewing has been tried in other rooms, but larger crowds attend when they are shown in the Student Center.

So, since the crowds won't go to the movie, the movie is brought to the crowds, and the crowds are in the OUampi Room.

Besides the fact that the crowds are in the OUampi Room, it is also the only facility always available. Movies usually start when the OUampi Room cafeteria closes at 3:00 p.m.

Even though the cafeteria line in the OUampi is closed, students are still able to get something to eat while watching the picture.

One movie this semester will be shown in the Conference Center Auditorium, May 19 in the evening.

Some plans have been discussed for purchasing shades for the Student Center Ballroom in order to show movies there.

The Gateway focuses attention on the problems and questions of OU students.

Any question or problem The Gateway may be able to answer or solve, may be submitted to the Gateway, Engg. Building room 116.

OUTlook

C of C Endorses NU-OU Merger

The Omaha Chamber of Commerce unanimously supports the merger of the University of Omaha and the University of Nebraska.

S. L. Cate, vice president, Education Council, pointed out that it appears the new state revenue situation will provide the first opportunity for new monies and budget from state sources.

He said also that the University of Nebraska is presently planning extensive capital expenditures in certain programs which could more logically be put on the University of Omaha campus.

Cate emphasized that this is the time for the merger. "We have agreement from the two Boards of Regents and generally from the two faculties, good support from the news media and general support throughout the community."

"If the Chamber can do anything to help with these merger proceedings, now is the time to do it."

Senator Opposes Merger

Omaha State Senator Henry F. Pedersen plans to give his views on the proposed NU-OU merger Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. University officials have granted Pedersen use of the Ad Auditorium.

"I will not engage in a debate with Senator Pedersen," said Dr. Kirk Naylor. Pedersen opposes the merger.

Syas Supports Merger

The OU-NU merger received a hearty round of applause from state senator George Syas last Monday night.

Speaking at the Young Republican Club meeting, the senator from the 13th district predicted that the merger will succeed, but that "success depended on the tax situation."

Syas said he didn't know how many of the state lawmakers looked with favor on the merger, but that the recent disapproval of four Omaha senators toward the bill "could hurt us."

Commenting on the bill going up for a vote before the people of Omaha, Syas flatly stated, "I predict Omaha will vote 3-1 in favor."

The meeting, which was attended by about 25 students, faculty, and staff members, brought many questions and comments.

One student asked why the "czar" system used in Massachusetts wasn't being considered here.

Under the system a "czar" or administrative head would "rule" over the presidents of the state universities. They, in turn, "rule" over their respective colleges or universities.

Syas answered by saying that this procedure would require a constitutional amendment, and that he didn't think the amendment would go through.

Making an analogy between the University and a business, Syas said, "It's like getting a new factory here. If the merger goes through, Omaha will get a tax cut, and they'll come out better financially."

Parents To Know More

Briefings for parents of OU students will continue. Dr. Kirk Naylor will hold the second session next Wednesday.

Parents wishing to find out more about the proposed NU-OU merger are invited to come to Room 101 Engg. Building at 7:30.

The third and final session will be held Thursday, March 16.

Naylor Answers Queries

feasible from a political standpoint.

Why would it take three years after a vote before OU could become a separate state university?

Constitutional amendments are voted on at general elections. The next general election would be in November 1968 and the time taken to incorporate the University as a separate institution would set a target date of 1970 as the time of establishment for a separate state university.

State Status In July 1968

How and when will the transition of OU from a municipal university to a state university take place?

The transition of the University of Omaha to a state-supported university under the merger bill would be accomplished through a written contract to be drawn up between the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska and the Board of Regents for the University of Omaha.

The effective date would be July 1, 1968.

According to an article in the World-Herald, ratification by the voters is not a legal requirement for the merger. Why are you seeking voter ratification?

For public relations purposes and also because we feel the people ought to have a voice in determining the future of the University of Omaha.

Will Tuition Be Cut?

How much will the tuition be if OU merges with NU and how much money is required to run OU for one year?

The tuition to be paid by Nebraska residents will be the same at both institutions. Out-of-state tuition has not been discussed, but it is my assumption that it will be comparable.

The total operating budget for the University for the 1966-67 year is $5,658,800. Operating budgets for institutions of higher education increase an average of 10 to 15 per cent a year.

Is the tuition decrease written into the merger bill? Or will the student be cheated out of this benefit?

The student will not be cheated out of this benefit. The principle regarding tuition rates will be clearly set forth in the contract.

Will there be a reduction in tuition before 1968? Or will any funds be available before July 1968?

No reduction of tuition can be promised prior to the date of the merger. However, if the merger is assured and if we participate in the bill to provide state support for junior colleges and municipal universities and if we are allowed to levy our full two mills and if we receive federal support to build a new science building, we will be in a position to consider our tuition rate and hopefully to reduce it prior to July 1, 1968.

Flat Tuition Fee?

The University of California at Berkley recently adopted a new tuition plan of a flat $400 tuition fee regardless of hours taken. Would it be possible for the University of Omaha to adopt such a "flat" charge plan?

Possibly, but not likely for tuition.

On the fact sheet . . . it is shown that a resident student at OU carrying 15 hours is charged $270 and a NU resident student carrying 12 hours is charged $167. Both of these figure $18 per hour. How does this help the student if both institutions charge $18 per hour?

If the present merger of OU and NU fails in this present Legislative session, will the tuition be raised again before a possible merger can be started again in a future Legislature?

We will take every means at our command to avoid, if possible, an increase in tuition.

How will the merger affect the teacher-student ratio at the University of Omaha?

We would hope that we could reduce the teacher-student ratio after the merger is in affect simply because we would have the money to employ additional instructors if needed.

Will Merger Bring Dorms?

There have been many complaints of overcrowding. Why, therefore, is there such a fuss raised when a drop in enrollment is noticed?

Because 74 per cent of our income is derived from tuition and fees. Hence we suffer a significant loss of income when our versity, how can we afford a $13 million science building?

Because the University's share of this project has been the result of budget savings over the past several years. For every $2 put up by the University, we have asked the Federal Government for $1. If we do not get the money from the Federal Government, it is doubtful that we will construct the building.

The Gateway will print more questions and answers next week.

The Pleasure - Speaker

Business and pleasure will be combined in a carry-tray luncheon sponsored by the Guidance Department at noon, Mar. 7, in the Student Center.

Dr. Paul Peterson, journalism department head, is invited speaker to outline his department's requirements and potentials before University councilors and any faculty members who wish to attend.

The luncheon meeting is designed especially to acquaint participants with information to successfully council students in the field of their interest.

Friday's meeting is just one of a series. Two more are planned this semester. Speakers at these meetings have not been announced.

The 8 O'clock Stage

The first performance of the OU Opera Theatre's "Acis and Galatea" is tonight at Brownell-Talbot School. The curtain will rise tonight and tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in the school's Swanson Memorial Auditorium.

The opera will be repeated at 7:30 on Tues., Mar. 14, at the College of Saint Mary.

Tickets are on sale in the Student Center. Admission is $1.50 and all seats are reserved.

A Spring gRain

March 24 is the deadline for the spring issue of the Grain of Sand, OU's literary magazine.

In the spring issue a poem or prose work of an Omaha high school student will be published.

Articles for the magazine are chosen by an editorial board of English majors.

Articles may be submitted to Dr. Ralph Wardle, Ad 321.

A Salt On A Team

"Anchors aweigh, me hearties."

A Navy officer information team will be on campus Monday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The team will be available in the Student Center to discuss with prospective graduates the wide variety of ways the Navy offers the college graduate to fulfill his military obligation.

Any junior or senior may make arrangements with the team to take the Officer Qualification Test on campus.

Down By The SEA Slide

The Student Educational Association will hold a meeting Wednesday, Mar. 8, in Student Center Room 315 at 3:30 p.m.

New officers will be elected and the current president, Hildegard Walter, will show slides from a European trip.

Talk Shop

A new Voice and Articulation lab has been added to the OU Speech Department.

The lab, in Ad 280, can accommodate eight people. It contains tape recorders with foot controls and sets of microphones and headsets.

The purpose of the lab is to permit students to hear their voices and perhaps increase control or correct minor problems. A library of tapes containing voice exercises is also housed in the new lab.

Department head J. K. Brillhart said the lab might be expanded some day if more speech improvement classes are added to the Speech Department.

It's The B's Needs

There are more math scholarships and fellowships available than there are graduates to apply for them.

Dr. Hubert L. Hunzeker, head of the math department, said, "if the student is able to apply for graduate work, we have a program available." An average of at least a "B" is the usual requirement.

The stipends range from a local part-time low of $2,000 to a national high of $7,400 for a full-time assistantship.

Information on all of these scholarships and fellowships is available in Dr. Hunzeker's office, Eng. 162A.

The Face Race

Dennis D. Den-Hartog, sophomore English major, is the winner of the Young Republican's contest on how Omaha University can best participate in Nebraska's Centennial. His prize was $25.

The twenty-six-year-old's idea is actually five.

One of his suggestions was turned in by many of the some 20 entries. This was to sponsor a beard-growing contest among the campus students and faculty. Den-Hartog suggests the Student Council set up a jail to prison the non-beard-growing males.

His second suggestion is an art contest sponsored by the art department to "reflect the outstanding moments in Nebraska's history."

His third ideas is to build the Ma-ie Day festivities around a centennial theme.

The fourth "could work out a panorama" of the state's first 100 years.

The fifth is a canoe race down the Missouri River to a southern part of the state . . . with various colleges participating.

KMTV To Give 'Birth'

"The Birth of a State", a Centennial program broadcast on KYNE-TV Mar. 1, will be re-shown on KMTV, Channel 3, on Saturday, Mar. 4 at 12:30 p.m.

The program was directed by KYNE-TV staff director Gary Nielsen and featured a cast of 100 students from Arbor Heights Junior High School lead by Mrs. Charlott Meadows.

The show consisted of group choral numbers with guitar and piano accompaniment along with narrations by members of the group. The singers were dressed in costumes depicting the era when Nebraska became a state.

Con-Teachi

The tenth Missouri Valley Conference of Collegiate Teachers in History meeting will be held at Omaha U on Mar. 10 and 11.

The Conference has been arranged by the OU department of history in co-operation with the College of Continuing Studies.

A. Stanley Trickett, history department head, will serve as chairman for the meeting; Professor Frederick Adrian will be the conference co-ordinator.

The two-day conference will consist of sessions on Latin America, 19th Century Europe and America, Medieval history, great plains history plus a session on the Nebraska Centennial. Also, graduate student paper sessions will be held.

Go For Baroque

The 71-member choir is diligently working on two major choral works for the Easter season.

The first, "Gloria" by Antonio Vivaldi will be presented Sunday, Mar. 19. The Baroque composition for orchestra, soloists and chorus is scheduled for 7:30 in the Student Center Ballroom.

Later, the choir will perform Gabriel Faure's "Requiem" for the Mar. 22 Easter Convocation.

The choir reports a 20 per cent increase in membership over the first semester.

Nurses Have Class

A polio victim who spends most of her time in a respirator needs help and encouragement to keep up her painting hobby.

This is only one of the classroom exercises for 20 OU students.

The class is Public Health Nursing 402, the newest course in the Nursing Department. It was added just this semester to accompany Principles of Public Health.

It is designed to give registered nurses the practical experience necessary to get their Bachelor of Science Degree.

The "classrooms" are the homes assigned to the nursing students by the Omaha-Douglas County Health Department.

The "exercises" are caring for the patients in their homes and showing them how to care for themselves.

STUDY PROBLEMS? GRADES HURTING?

If so, you've got plenty of company. Dennis Barr solved this very neatly. He took the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics course.

RAPID READING IS THE KEY!

If your grades are suffering, it's because you have a reading problem. Most of us read at an average rate of 300 words a minute, with only average comprehension! Average just isn't good enough to keep up with today's college demands.

Reading Dynamics absolutely guarantees to teach you how to read at least three times faster, with excellent comprehension, or refund your entire tuition! Special attention is given to developing study skills.

Actually, most of our graduates read over 1500 words a minute without sacrificing comprehension or pleasure after just eight weekly lessons. Dennis Barr, by the way, does over 3000 words a minute.

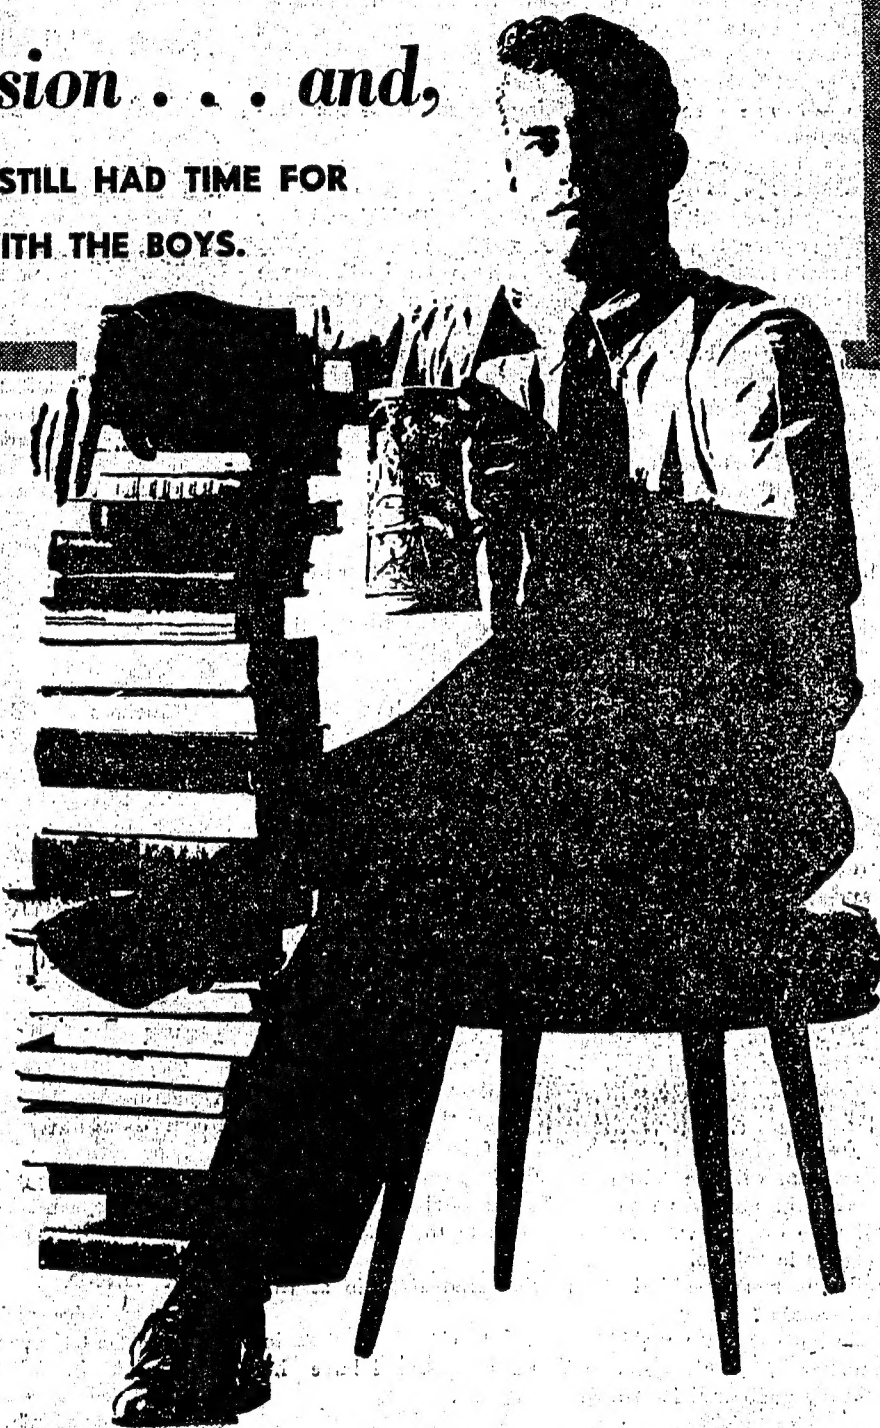

ABOUT OUR GUARANTEE!

Based on beginning and ending tests, measuring speed and comprehension, only 1.6% of our students have qualified for a tuition refund. Reason? Our system is simple. Our method works . . . and so do our teachers!

Reading Dynamics teaches you not only how to read faster, but how to study, how to recall what you read, how to do your homework! And, still have time for social activities.

WHERE IS READING DYNAMICS TAUGHT?

To Park Or Not To Park Becomes YR Problem

By Rich Lundgren

When Joe College of Omaha fails to find one of those rare parking stalls, he has two choices.

He can feed the one eyed-bandit. Or he can face the long walk up from Elmwood Park after leaving his car in the wooded lot.

Craig Reisser is typical of the college man who wants a place to park his car after paying for tuition.

West of the campus, sophomore Reisser saw all types of "NO PARKING" signs that had sprung up along the streets in this wealthy neighborhood.

YR's Interested

He was so concerned about this "NO PARKING" weed that he went to the Young Republicans on campus. YR officials asked him to look into the situation and report back.

He found an area between J. E. George Blvd. and Underwood Ave., where there weren't any "NO PARKING" signs. When Reisser and other YR members went to the Omaha City Council, they used this area as an example.

Omaha Municipal Code Section 35-24-260 stated that parking should be permitted on one side of all streets varying in width from 20 to 30 feet, unless traffic studies show that such parking causes traffic congestion.

Parking No Problem

Reisser and the informally organized parking committee showed slides of a two-minute traffic jam they made during Thanksgiving vacation.

On one side of the street Reisser parked his father's big Buick Electra and on the other side sat a Volkswagon. Reisser said because of this, drivers were forced to use one lane.

Reisser further points out that on this narrow street parking is allowed, but just around the corner there are "NO PARKING" signs, and here there is plenty of room for parking.

After hearing the YR's story, the Council said they would send it to the judiciary committee for further study.

Councilman Art Bradley complimented the YR's presentation.

Councilman Fred Jacobberger said more students should ride the bus.

Reisser gave a reason for the OU student with wheels. He said two-thirds of the students work part-time and they need their cars to get to and from work.

Education majors need a car to get to student teaching assignments.

The YR's have heard no word from the City Council since the petition was brought before it on Jan. 17.

Car Pool Assist, Possibility
John Latenser, president of the junior GOP's, is presently working on what he calls a "Car Pool Assist." He explained that this is a way of providing rides to campus.

The city will be divided into areas of approximately five square miles. Cards marked "Need Riders" and "Need Rides" will be provided.

A Good Year To Graduate

By Gary Larsen

This year as never before, the nation's top employer's will be falling all over each other in their eagerness to recruit graduating college students.

In fact, the need for graduates is so great that important changes in hiring practices are taking place.

U.S. News and World Report, in an article entitled, "The Job Market for Class of '67," states that academic standing is no longer a prime consideration in hiring college graduates.

Draft liability is, likewise, no longer a deterrent to employment with many companies.

During March over 40 major companies will visit the OU campus to interview graduating seniors.

Among the companies sending representatives are Proctor & Gamble, Firestone, Standard Oil, and General Mills.

Each of the firms participating will have a representative on campus for a full day to interview prospective employees.

Any senior interested in meeting with these representatives may obtain full information about the companies and the dates they will be on campus, by registering in the Placement Office Ad. Building, Room 238. There is no charge for registration.

OU Students Sink Together

As the OU College Bowl was sinking on the Atlantic coast, an OU debate team was having its troubles on the Pacific coast.

After accepting an invitation to the Cal Tech Debate Tournament, the team of Roger Sutton, Barry Goldware and coach John Wanznerried flew to Pasadena Feb. 16.

Cal Tech hosted 47 teams at the meet, held Feb. 17 and 18. OU met teams from Loyola, University of Washington, University of California at Redlands and University of Southern California. The entire competition was set up and run by computers.

The OU team didn't do to well in the Cal Tech Debate. "We were just out of our class" said Coach Wanznerried.

On Feb. 21, the team flew to Tucson, Arizona for the University of Arizona Debate Tournament. While waiting for the tournament to get underway, the team spent a day in Mexico doing more sight seeing.

One Feb. 23, 24 and 25, they went to work at the tourney, and this time they did well. Out of 52 teams in their division, OU made the semi-finals and the top 20 list. They beat teams from University of New Mexico, University of Colorado at Denver, San Fernando Valley, and, to reap a small slice of revenge, the University of Texas at El Paso.

Four years ago I led the biggest water balloon fight on campus. Today I'm a Department Manager at John Hancock.

I was the good-time Charley at College. Oh, I worked hard. But when it came to fun, I played hard too.

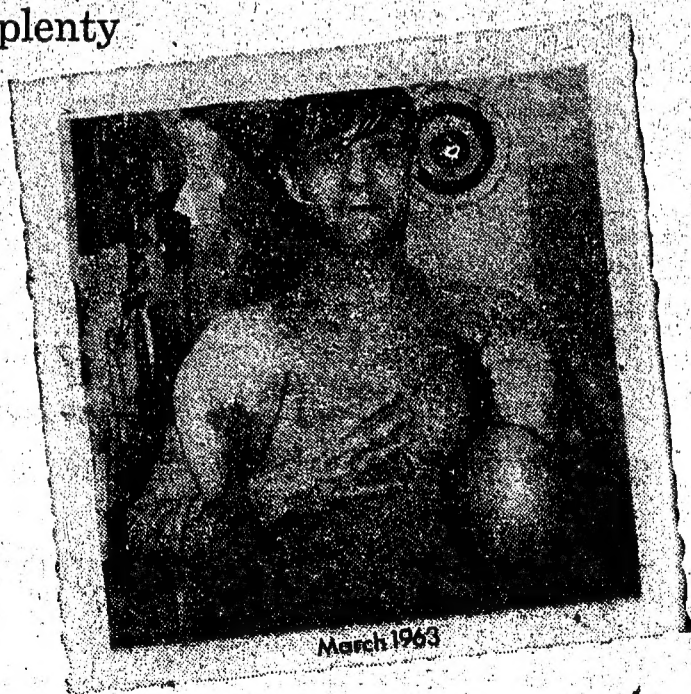

I'm at John Hancock now. I've been here since graduation. And doing pretty well for myself. John Hancock is one of the world's largest life insurance companies.

Our sales last year totaled over 4½ billions. So if you're eager to get ahead, there's plenty of room. And a number of ways to do it: sales, programming, accounting, auditing, management, research, underwriting, claim approving, and electric data processing.

If you haven't thought about a career in life insurance, maybe it's time you did. And with us at John Hancock.

When our John Hancock recruiter visits your campus, make sure you see him.

We'll be on campus March 15th.

Chi Omega Wins Bowl

Chi Omega won the OU College Bowl Feb. 23.

The team consisted of Janet Archer, Cheryl Plymate, Marji Holmquist and Janet Voelte, known affectionably as "Our Univac" because she worked with the Varsity College Bowl.

La Rae Koppit and Brenda Williams served as alternates answering questions on science, math, literature, and history.

The questions were composed by professors or taken from old GE College Bowl scripts.

A plaque, inscribed with the names of the four team members, will be displayed in the Student Center.

The Chi Os received a traveling trophy, which they keep for a semester. Each team member was awarded a small engraved Reserve Bowl.

"We were all supposed to be someplace else the night of the finals. We weren't expecting to win," Janet Archer declared.

Thirty-two people participated in the preliminaries Feb. 20.

Why be a have not... when it's so easy at the U.S. National Bank to be a have?

Jack has a new car. Bill is driving an old heap. Jane has a new wardrobe. Alice has to "make do" with last year's.

Pete and Mary are buying a house. Frank and Jane are still in an apartment.

Chuck has sharp clothes and gets around, yet doesn't make any more than Bert, who is always broke.

There will always be haves and have-nots, but the barrier that separates them is often easy to leap.

Leave the old adages about thrift to the Ben Franklins. At the U.S. National Bank we want to help you get doing something about having what you want. It's easier than you think. Start a savings account and see how fast it adds up with top rate interest. Have a checking account and see how much better off you are in keeping track of your money. And for loans to have now some of the things that make life fun . . . well, that's easier than you think, too. Yes, it's easy to be one of the haves.

Ten Best Dressed: Seated: Jeannie Craig, Karen Payne, Cheryl Eby, Jan Norton, and Linda Jordan. Standing: Judy Clodfelder, Susanne Giller, Marji Holmquist, Jan Rundquist, and Ann Bogacz.

Eby Chosen Best Dressed

"As unbelievable as it still seems to me, I've been selected as the best dressed co-ed at Omaha University," said Cheryl Eby.

The Home Economics Club sponsored the 10 best-dressed co-eds contest. The club nominates 32 girls each year, Cheryl was number 19.

On Feb. 22 Cheryl was selected the winner from 10 finalists. The other nine finalists were: Jeannie Craig, Linda Jordan, Marji Holmquist, Karen Payne, Judy Clodfelder, Susanne Giller, Ann Bogacz, Jan Norton and Jan Rundquist.

The following co-eds were entered in the best-dressed Hall of Fame for being nominated two consecutive years: Pam Adams, Jan Archer, Jonell Dunn, Bev Grasso, Carole Grube, Suzi Mortensen, Diane Ruge and Brenda Williams.

Cheryl described her emotions as being "on needles and pins all day Wednesday." She kept reassuring her boyfriend that she was just in it for practice and "wouldn't stand a chance."

"As I walked out in front of the judges, I tried to smile, and moisten my lips and throat just enough so that I could make some intelligible sound to the judges. Everything came out in a hoarse whisper," Cheryl stated.

"My spirits were just about as low as everyone else's when I heard one of the girls say something about number 19," she said.

The judges for the contest were Nancy Luetticke, instructor at Patricia Stevens Career College; Jo Sarnett, personnel director at Sears and Dorothy Gray, teen coordinator at Brandeis.

Greek Grind

Alpha Epsilon Pi has pledged Ben Jacobs in open rush.

Ron Herzoff, Mike Giventer, Fred Varracok, and Steve Koss have been voted to membership, standing, and will be activated shortly.

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity took 11 new pledges in open bidding.

Kho Epsilon will hold its first meeting Tuesday in the Student Center. The professional fraternity is open to all those interested in real estate.

Chi Omega sorority president Jan Archer, and pledge trainer Mary Willenberg leave today for the national Firesides Convention, an officers' training session, in Kansas City.

The new initiates of Zeta Tau Alpha were honored at the traditional Activation Banquet Sunday. Rosalyn Hammer was named Outstanding Pledge of the year by the active chapter and Nancy Jo Stevenson was named the Best Dressed by the pledge class.

Orchesis Holds Shop

Orchesis, modern dance honorary, will hold its annual two-day workshop in the West Quonset Hut and the Ball Student Center, Saturday and Sunday.

It will be under the direction of Clifford Kirwan and Paul Chambers, artistic directors for St. Joseph, Mo., Modern Dance Theatre.

They will teach beginning, intermediate, and advanced technique and composition classes Saturday in the West Quonset. Registration is at 9:30 a.m. and everyone is encouraged to attend. Admission is free.

At 3 p.m., OU's troupe will present "Fission Fusion," choreographed by Priscilla Wilkins, past Orchesis president.

Kirwan and Chambers and their company of 20 University of Missouri students will perform Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Ballroom. The public is invited.

New Members Added

Orchesis has added five new members to the honorary since the beginning of the semester.

Steve Capoccia, Suzanne Giller, Mary La Italia, Ellen McKinley, and Richalie Seibel are the new members.

Angels Recruit Members

Angel Flight and Arnold Air Society are holding a coffee hour today for women interested in applying for membership in Angel Flight.

Any full-time student with a 2.25 accumulative average is invited to attend the function at 4 p.m. in the student center.

Attendance at the coffee is required for membership application. Current members will introduce themselves and explain the organization's purpose and requirements.

Greeks Sponsor Dance and Project

The kick-off for Greek Week is tonight.

The Greeks are sponsoring a dance in the Student Center from 9 to 12. The Wonders combo will provide the music. One Greek card per couple will be required for admission.

Tomorrow, the Greeks will bring 100 under-privileged children to the campus. As their annual project, the Greeks are providing a movie and refreshments for the children. Bev Grasso is in charge.

Grapplers End Best Season, 10-3-2

Rookie Boasts Best Record

By Dan Parker

University of Omaha wrestlers ended their best season Tuesday with a 29-8 romp over Emporia State. Coach Don Benning guided his skillful grapplers to a 10-3-2 season.

The powerful squad will go to Concordia March 10-11 for the District NAIA title. Winners and top performers will travel to Lock Haven College in Pennsylvania with Benning for the National tourney March 13-18.

Hornets Dropped to 6-6

The Indian matmen won seven matches Tuesday dropping the Hornets to a 6-6 season. Four of the victories were pins. Reggie Williams recorded the fastest pin in 1:11 over Steve Hutchinson. Other pins were made by Wendell Hakanson, Tom Maides and Curlee Alexander.

Two OU grapplers were sidelined during the final meet with flu. They were Billy Meyers and Jim Barrington.

Washington...top matman

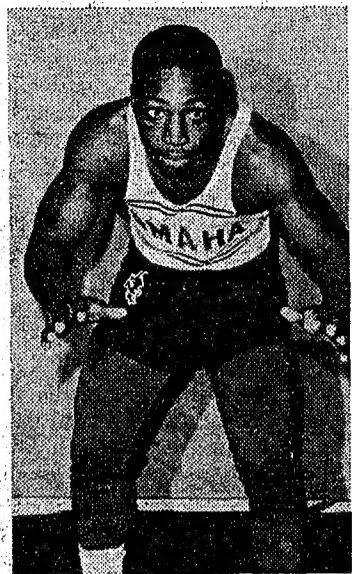

One of the reasons for Benning's successful season is the 14-1 record of a freshman from New York.

He wears wrestling sneakers; he never loses as long as he leaves the last hole on the left shoe unlaced. His name? Roy Washington, the "superstitious" OU 152-pounder, who has lost only one match in 15 outings.

Honors have been the vitamins of Roy's life. As a freshman at Monroe High School in Rochester, New York he placed second in the state meet at 137 pounds.

Moving up to 145 pounds his sophomore year, Roy won the state title at that weight for the next two years.

As a senior, Roy wrestled for the AAU. For the next two years Washington was the Eastern AAU champion at 152 pounds.

Last Hole Unlaced

Football, Track

Roy was also a star athlete in football and track. His sophomore year in high school saw Roy as a second-team All-City selection at guard, but as a junior he made the top All-Star squad at that same position.

In track, Roy ran the 880. His best time is a respectable 2:04.

As an OU-grappler Roy won 13 matches in a row before losing. Seven of his 14 wins have been won by falls. His quickest pin was registered at 1:39, and his longest pin was 7:08.

Full Scholarship

The scholarship that Coach Don Benning has arranged for

Roy is planned for four years. The grant includes tuition and books.

Roy respects his teammates the same way he respects Benning. "When someone on the team has a good record it makes the rest of the team want to equal that person. Overall, this makes a better team," he said.

Coaching Career

Speaking of Reggie Williams and Wendell Hakanson, Roy feels that both these men are equal to or better than himself. As far as the attitude of the whole team toward winning, Roy feels it is excellent.

The 20-year-old freshman physical education major had a 2.55 grade average last semester. Upon graduation, Roy wants to go back East and coach.

Tri-Meet Ends Indoor

OU's indoor trackmen will close their brief season tomorrow afternoon hosting a triangular meet in the fieldhouse.

The meet with Ft. Hayes and South Dakota State begins at 2 p.m.

Indian trackmen will try and repeat their surprise victory of last Friday. The trackers upset Yankton and Morningside with a tally of 73, 52 and 23 respectively.

The surprise victory was led by Paul Gubi who placed in four events and Jim McMahon who placed in three.

Highpoint of the meet was the winning debut of the Indian yearling hurdle crop of Larry Stevens, Oscar Pulliam, Paul Gubi and Bruce Jennings.

Cager from Alabama...

Todd's Future Hopeful As Indian Cage Star

By Phil Johnson

Leonard Todd is one of the finest freshman basketball players to appear at OU in recent years.

His quick agile movements on the basketball court have helped to break every press this year.

Len's tremendous spring more than makes up for his comparative short height of six-feet. As his teammate Steve Kupcho described it, "he goes straight up." This, plus his exceptional speed and his uncanny shooting ability, have earned him a 15.6 average per game.

The quiet 22-year-old from Demopolis, Ala. served as an Air-Policeman in the Air Force where he met Captain James Bowling, an ex-bootstrapper from Omaha University.

Captain Bowling spotted Todd when he was playing for the base team at Grand Forks, North Dakota, and recommended that he attend Omaha University under an athletic scholarship.

After Todd arrived, he sent word to Steve Kupcho, who served with him in the Air Force, to come here after he was discharged. A tentative pipeline for basketball players has been established, which is hoped will continue.

Todd also holds his own in the classroom as well as on the basketball court. The muscular athlete carries a 2.9 average.

Baseball Practice Soon On Ak Field

By Ray Kalinski

Virgil Yelkin's baseball crew find practice a little crowded.

They started daily workouts last Wednesday sharing the field house with the basketball and track teams.

The tracksters end their season here tomorrow but the basketball team could have one or two more home games, depending on their play-off success.

The 37 baseball team candidates, which will be cut to about 20, have been forced to practice in the late evening following the basketball workout.

Practice At Ak-Sar-Ben

Weather wouldn't permit outdoor practice even if a field were available. Plans, however, include the construction of a practice field in Ak-Sar-Ben.

Coach Yelkin feels that having the field there will pose some handicaps. "We'll have to move all our equipment down there and provide transportation for the players to and from every practice."

The coach went on to express the team's need for more experience. "We lost seven starters from last year's team and have only one returning infielder. First and third base along with the outfield will get a lot of attention, but right now our main concern is pitching."

Holder To Carry Load

With the loss of Ken McEwen, last year's hurling ace, the coach plans to rely on right hander Jack Holder to carry the pitching load.

Backing him up will be lettermen Jim Butler, a right hander, and southpaws Larry Wood and Erwin Rehder. Larry Gomez, a promising freshman left hander from Omaha Ryan, will also see some mound action.

"I will be switching lettermen around at first" comments Yelkin. "I'll probably try right fielder Dale Loritz or first baseman Herb Johnson, a catcher in high school, behind the plate, and move Bob Davis, a second baseman to third."

First Game March 28

"Our first games of the season at Arkansas Tech and Tulsa March 28 and 29, were scheduled primarily as a training period for the boys," continued the coach.

"Prior to this they won't have played outdoors. I expect them to develop more than anything, especially in pitching."

The Indians, 22-8 last year, won't play their first home game until April 22, when they take on Wichita at Rosenblatt Stadium.

OU Hosts High School Cheerleaders

Novice cheerleaders gathered at OU Saturday to learn basic cheering techniques.

Approximately 220 high school girls from Omaha and surrounding areas participated in the cheerleading clinic sponsored by Women's Physical Education Majors and Minors.

Central High School cheerleaders instructed the beginners in crowd psychology, pep rallies and the basic methods of cheering.

During the three hour session, the students were divided into groups to practice techniques.

Pi Kap team consistently placed in each event to tallywinning 62½ points.

Pi Kaps Sweep Track Meet

By Norm Tweedy

Pi Kappa Alpha ran away with the intramural track meet Tuesday night.

The second place Team took seven first places and broke two records, but their point tally could not pass the consistent Pi Kaps with 62½.

The Team's mile relay team of Phil Bowen, Herb Martin, Ray Smith and Steve Williams broke the 1966 record by nearly five seconds.

Williams also broke the 440-yd. dash record with a time of 1:53.2. Pi Kap's Herb Wehner, holder of last year's 440 record, finished second.

The only first place taken by the Pikes was Harold Lenz's top high jump of 5' 7", more than three inches short of the record. Pikes however placed in 18 positions.

Lone runner for the New Jersey Athletic Club, Harry Johnson tied the low hurdles record with 7.2.

Another record broken was the participation record. Eighty-six men participated in the 10 events.
